

Editorial – v. 4, n. 2

We present the second edition of the fourth volume of the South Florida Journal of Development (SFJD).

The SFJD arose from the perception of teachers and researchers about the need to create new scientific vehicles whose mission is the dissemination of research on development, not only in Brazil, but also in the world. To this end, this new scientific magazine was created.

This figure, as well as all previous ones, have made important contributions to the area of development. Access and check!
